Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Wednesday 07 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Dry overnight and for most tomorrow. Turning showery towards weekend.

This Evening and Tonight:
Any remaining showers quickly ease through the evening as cloud cover breaks up, allowing spells of late sunshine for many. Mostly dry overnight, with clear spells and light winds possibly allowing the odd fog patch to form inland. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Thursday:
A murky start in places, but soon brightening up, with sunny spells and fair-weather cloud through the day. Staying dry for most, though the odd shower possible in southern areas. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Sunny spells and a few showers on Friday. Frequent showers by day over the weekend, some of which heavy and possibly thundery. Mostly dry nights, with occasional fog patches possible.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.